

September 11, 2020

Dear _____:

Subject: Audit of your Canadian Emergency Wage Subsidy claims

Following our telephone conversation on September 10, 2020, this is to confirm that we are commencing the audit of the Canadian Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS) received by _____ for the above-referenced periods. In accordance with subsection 231.1(1) of the Income Tax Act (ITA), we will require access to the various documents listed in the attached CEWS – Appendix A to initial contact letter for the purpose of administering and enforcing the ITA rules in the context of this audit.

As discussed, given the unusual nature of the wage subsidy program, the CRA is commencing audits earlier than it normally would. We anticipate that this approach will assist both taxpayers and the CRA in locating and providing requested documentation as well as explanations of approaches taken in the CEWS application. This is a limited scope audit which we anticipate could be completed, provided that requested documentation is made available in a timely manner.

In this regard, we refer you to the attached CEWS – Appendix B to initial contact letter which describes procedures for information requests throughout the audit process.

I would like to take this opportunity to direct you to My Business Account and Represent a Client, which, in addition to facilitating electronic documents transfer for the purposes of this audit, allow you to view and control many other services such as filing a return or election, and authorizing or managing representatives who can submit records on your behalf. For more details or to register for My Business Account, go to canada.ca/my-cra-business-account.

Also, to find out more about the audit process, please refer to CRA pamphlet RC4188 “What you should know about audits” which can be found at canada.ca/forms and publications.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at _____.
You can also reach my team leader, _____.

Sincerely,

Audit Division

Appendix B

Procedures for Information Requests

This Appendix outlines general procedures for requesting and communicating information in regard to the Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS) audit of _____.

Due to the exceptional circumstances currently being felt by Canadians because of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) is following temporary protocols to facilitate communications with taxpayers. As a result, in almost all circumstances during the course of this audit, the auditor will be conducting this audit virtually away from the taxpayer's place of business using the current protocols in place for data capturing and communicating taxpayer information.

Information Request Turnaround Time:

It is anticipated that the turnaround time for the vast majority of information requests should be not more than 10 business days if the electronic transmission of the information is a viable option and the information is readily available given that the CEWS claims have recently been submitted to the CRA. Where it appears that a response will require additional time, please advise us as soon as possible with an explanation. A revised response date may then be established.

Electronic Portal:

The preferred method for submitting and/or receiving documents electronically is through the CRA's secure portals. As mentioned in the cover page to this letter, My Business Account (MyBA) and Represent a Client (RAC) which, in addition to facilitating electronic documents transfer, allow you to view and control many other services such as filing a return or election and authorize representatives who can submit records on your behalf. For more details or to register for MyBA or RAC please go to the CRA website: canada.ca/cra-submit-documents-online. To the extent that this portal is a viable option for transmitting documents electronically, it will be used extensively during the course of this audit.
